GOOD WORK BY HOME SHOTS

Crowell Succeeds in Breaking Twenty Five Straight-Complete Score of the Tournament by Events.

The first day of the tournament of the Michigan Trap Shooters' league, held on the North Park grounds, attracted a good crowd of talented pigeon amasters yesterday. Some of the shooting of home shots was excellent, especially that of Crowell, who succeeded in breaking twenty-five pigeons without a hitch. Bortree also amashed twenty-one birds out of a possible twenty-five in the tenth event.

The score is as follows: Event 1, 10 birds — Woodworth, 6; Crowell, 10; Schelling, 8; Nichols, 8; Parker, 8; Manage worth $3,310 to the winner.

ENTRIES ARE COMING IN. Probably 150 Trotters Will Attend the August Meeting.

Horsemen in general and the Horse mens' association in particular have every reason to feel gratified over the entries that are coming in for the great August meet. The full list of entries not complete and letters and telegrams are daily coming to the secre-tary of the association entering strings and asking that stable accommoda-tions be reserved for the horses. Up to the present time eighty-five horses are entered with the secretary, and prospects are that the entry list will contain the names of at least 150 of the fastest horses ever seen in Grand Rapids. The strings by Salisbury, Hamlin, Budd Doble, McHenry, Bickok, Gouldensith, Miller & Sibley, Fashion Stud Farm, A. T. Miller, Matt Malouey and numerous others, both great and small, have not as yet arrived. C. J. Hambn has tele-graphed for twenty-five stalls for his flyers and others have ers and others heve also wired for rommodations in proportion to their

How to Fish a Trout Pool. I presume every fly fisher has at some time or another found a likely looking trout pool and worked it carefully with his flies from one and to the other, and perhaps changed his flies and rested the pool and again worked over it without petting a rise from a trout of decent size, and then proceeded down stream or up stream, just as it happens that he is a down stream or up stream fisher, feeling that in the pool a big trout is lurking, that he must be there because everything indicates it, but unfortunatey the flybook does not contain the particular fly that will bring his troutship from his lair.

If this should happen to a fly fisher during this charming blossom season, and he has fished the pool artistically way, haunted by the thought of a big trout left behind, let him fill his pipe, if he is a smeker, and retire from the pool until the soothing weed is consume and amoker and pool are both rested. Then approach and cast the files below or at one side of the particular spot which appears to hold the fish, and when the flies sink below the surface draw them past the spot with force enough to make the water our as it is divided by the flies drawn so swiftly that neither trout nor man can distinguish the particular flies of the cast.-Forest and

MEDICINE IN PATAGONIA.

Bow Sick Children Are Treated in Our Continent's Southern Extremity. The Boston Globe has learned the Patagonia. As soon as the doctor arrives he looks at the sick child, and then thick cream with water, and the child is painted from head to foot, causing him to cry again. "The evil spirit is still here," says the doctor, sagely, and un-does two mye'erious packages he car-ries, one contains rhea sinews and the other a rattle made of stones in a gourd decorated with feathers. He then fingers the sinews, mutters something for a few minutes, then he seizes the rattle and shakes it violently, staring very hard at the crying child, then wraps it in the skin again and it coases erying. Again it is painted, rattled at, and stared at, and again it cries. This is done four times, and then the cure is considered complete. The doctor leaves the child quiet, enfolded in the warm the child quiet, enfolded in the warm skin, and goes away, having received two pipefuls of tobacco as his fee. Strange to say, the child generally recovers, but if it does not the doctor gets out of the difficulty by declaring that the parents did not keep the medicine skin tightly round the child, and so let the evil spirit get back again. This statement may possibly explain the origin of the old nursery song which is printed in all editions of "Mother Goose Melodies," and has probably been sung by every mother in America:

"By Baby Buntia.

Daddy's gone a huntin',
To get a little rabbit skin
To wrep up Baby Buntin in."

To wrap up Baby Buntin in."

GOOD IDEA FOR SPENDTHRIFTS. A Reporter's Plan Whereby He Managed to Have Money All Week. A newspaper reporter who has wielded a pencil for various journals in New York for nearly a score of years told an interesting story about himself to a party of congenial friends including a Commercial Advertiser man, the other evening, that will bear repeating. He said that during the earlier portion of his journalistic career he found it almost impossible to lay aside any money, notwithstanding the fact that he was then a single man and carned a first-class salary. Try as he would the money he received on Saturday for his week's work would slip away from him, and when Monday came around there remained nothing for him to do but to strike the cashier. Finally the cashier became tired of being hit so early in the week, and the reporter was warned that he would have to give it up.

"I managed it in one way and another," said the writer, "but after a time my friends also became tired and I found myself in many embarrassing found myself in many embarrassing positions, until I finally hit on a pecul-iar but altogether satisfactory plan."
"And what was that?" he was asked.

"Well, it was simply this: When I got my money Saturday afternoon I went over to the post office, purchased a registered letter, put a portion of my salary in it and addressed it to myself at the 5 0 1 1 0-10 16 12 I managed to get along all right

The spring in Alaska is generally more backward than in more southern latitudes, because the mountains being covered with snow the atmosphere is kept more or less chilled until the snow begins to appear the snow begins to appear the snow that the snow begins to appear the snow that the s begins to appreciably disappear. But the compensation comes in the fall, when the mild weather is extended far beyond its limit in many other places nearer the center of civilization. Vegetables and flowers frequently are found growing in the gardens after De-cember, and it is rare that heavy frosts occur before that month. The summer in Alaska is delightful, never oppressively warm. The thermometer remains around seventy-nine degrees for weeks and perhaps months, while the pleasant daylight remains in the amber sky.

Temporarily Suspended, But His Store Goes Marching On.

Some men are born great, others have to hustle for what they get, and some have success thrust upon them. James Travis, now widely known as rives he looks at the sick child, and then with much ceremony rolls it up in a piece of skin. He then orders a clay plaster, and by this time the child has ceased crying, soothed by the warmth of the skin, and so renders still more solid his reputation as a wise man. Yellow clay is brought and made into a thick cream with water, and the child is painted from head to foot, causing him to cry again. "The evil spirit is still here," says the doctor, sagely, and unders two mysterious package, he says the doctor, sagely, and unders two mysterious package, his band of actors is dispersed and he is once more devoting his perand he is once more devoting his per-Canal street business. Mr. Travis still evinces that indomitable nerve and pluck that has characterized him al-way as a man, and though $3,000 poorer than when he first coallenged forer than when he first challenged for-tune as showman be is, nevertheless, cheerful and full of hope, and has set about to repair his losses. To this end he has restocked his store with every-thing that it did not contain, and that was very little, and he may now be found at his old stand, a sadder and a wiser man, determined to miss no measure of success that energy and application may attain.

ADVERTISING PHYSICIANS!

In the Detroit Free Press June 7, sixth page, under the head of "Distinguished Doctors," we see the names of the members of The American (Alopathic) Medical Association, who are meeting in that city, and the specialties in which they are engaged, and also the pictures of 28 of those who can afford it.

If this is their advertisement, and we think it is, we wish to congratulate the principal physicians among the Alopaths for their success as advertising physicians, and we feel sorrow for the common herd of Alopathic physicians who do not DARE to advertise. What does this meeting amount to, anyway ? Is it anything more than a mutual admiration society and a free advertising scheme for its members? Will the rest of the Alopathic physicians call them "quacks" after this? We hope not, as the members of the American Medical Association have as much right to advertise as Dr. S. CLAY TODD, and we wish to congratulate them on their success as Advertising Physicians.
